

New trademark vocabulary, 1995–2021

Tokens introduced after a 1990–1994 burn-in, where they originated, and how they spread across industries

Eric Silver

June 2026 — working note

What this is

A pass over the full cross-industry token panel (`_cct_year_class_token_counts.parquet`, 10,617,183 rows; 1990–2021; 42,645 distinct tokens across 45 NICE classes) identifying vocabulary that was introduced after a 1990–1994 burn-in and that crossed a substantive-use threshold in the study period 1995–2021. The panel reports, for each (year, NICE class, token), the number of granted filings whose goods/services text contained that token.

New-term definition. A token qualifies if its total count over 1990–1994 is exactly 0, its total count over 1995–2021 is at least 200, and it is present in at least 5 distinct study-period years. Result: 3,653 tokens meet the criteria. The top 100 by total study-period count are below.

Origin industry. The NICE class with the largest count for the token in its first two appearance years. This is informative but noisy at very small first-window counts (e.g., e-commerce shows origin “Household Utensils 21” on just 2 stray filings in 1995–1996 before 1997’s class 9/42 explosion — the `origin_5y=2` next to `other_total=146k` makes the noise visible).

Truncation. Terms born ≥ 2013 have trailing zero `y8/y9/y10` entries because the panel ends in 2021; this is data-truncation, not absence (e.g., `blockchain y8 = 29,314, y9 = y10 = 0`).

HHI. Herfindahl on non-origin-industry shares. Higher = adoption concentrated in a small number of other industries; lower = adoption spread.
